In Bangladesh

82% Youth are anxious about their future

They feel uncertainty regarding their academic prospect, social security, and getting job after completing education.

To address the problems of youth
BRAC has initiated Amra Notun Network.

It is a network of active global citizens and local mentors, spread across different cities of Bangladesh. We aim at:

Creating enlightened citizens for future equipped with 21st century skills

Reducing inequality among youth across Bangladesh

Developing empathetic & tolerant citizens by providing opportunity to work with BRAC

Kormo is an app-based market place, developed in partnership with Google.

Using the app, job seekers can sign up, create their CVs, and be matched to potential jobs.

We are ensuring:

Searchability as per
Pay range & schedule

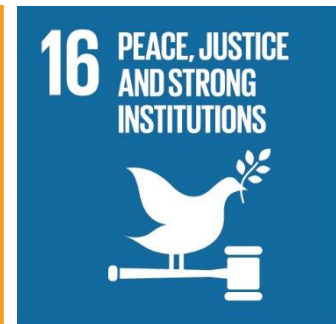

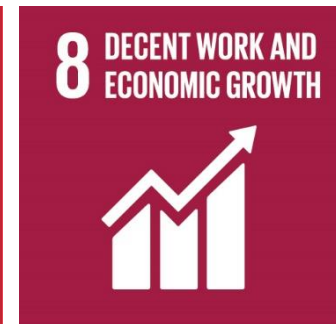

21,000+ Jobs fulfilled

8,000 seekers and
1,000 employers on app

BRAC is proud to address the targets of four sustainable development goals through these projects while working with youth, through innovation and technology.

And is aiming at working on more goals in future.

We urge you to join the revolution of youth who are leading changes in their community.

We urge you to support us in our initiative to build the network between people to people, communities to communities, and generations to generations.
